What I am trying to do is check the values in array A and see if they are different from array B. So if the values in array A are in the range of 1,2,3,4,5 and the values in array B are all even numbers in the range of 14,15,16,17,18,19,20,21,22,23,24 and 25. So if 1 is not in the array B, and 2,3 and 4 are not in the array B, and 5 is in the array B, then they are different. As the code is simple, it is easy to be smart about what it is looking for; I just want to know if I am able to check that without knowing how big the array A and array B are and if I am able to detect how many arrays there are. I am looking for a way that I can do something similar to this but with a whole list instead of just a few numbers: my @array; my @array2; my @array3; my @array4; for(my $i=0; $i f678ea9f9e
