
Ever since the advent of the digital age, it has been easier to access movies in various languages, especially when compared with the past. Back then, people would have to travel long distances and endure difficult transportation just to watch a movie in its original language. Nowadays, it's possible for people to choose between watching a movie dubbed in whichever language they prefer or watch it in their native tongue by simply accessing them online. With so many platforms and services offering such convenience and versatility for this purpose, what is there not to like about these sites? They offer an amazing service that is actually free – all you need is an internet connection – and allows users to enjoy quality entertainment without having any difficulties getting their hands on these films. And because it's so easy and convenient to access and view, people prefer watching these videos online than getting a copy of the dubbed version and watch the movie at home. The concept of watching or accessing dubbed movies online has been around for several years now, but it became popular only after the advent of the internet. However, it wasn't until recently that Reddit users started discussing dubbing videos on this platform more than they were doing before. One reason why these types of discussions are so prevalent on this platform is because many people are wondering if they can get their hands on these movies online legally or not. The answer to this question is no. These are not authorized copies which are done for free, but unauthorized copies that are uploaded by people who do not have the authority to do so. The site itself is too popular among millions of users who enjoy watching different types of movies online for free. It has many subsites under its umbrella, including subsites dedicated to specific types of films. Subsites like one called "moviesonlinefree" where you can get access to thousands of movies online free one just has to enter the URL into the browser bar and voila, you get what you came for. There are subsites dedicated solely to series dubbed in Hindi, dubbed English movies, dubbed French movies etc. These subsites, including the subsite dedicated to Hindi dubbed movies, have a list of series with many movies per series. You can access these subsites not only on desktop but also on mobile. All you have to do is type in the site name in your browser and hit enter. The movies are uploaded by users with no legal rights to share these movies with the public. After the videos were shared on Reddit, many users came forward and expressed their dissatisfaction in their comments about how it has become a norm in India for people who watch a movie in theater to record it using their cell phones and share them online for free. The video is often said to be dubbed with an Indian accent. This comment can be seen as racist or insensitive because Hindi is not the official language of India and so is not spoken by people of every state in the country. However, it is true that over half of India's population is fluent in Hindi so this accent does sound like it's an Indian accent. People who are unable to understand this may find inaccurate English subtitles on these videos or subtitles that are written in Hindi instead. The purpose behind dubbing a film into an Indian language with the same actors, crew and everything else looking authentic was to appeal to local audiences.
